“ Doris, you taught me the real meaning of empathy by your words and your deeds. Whenever I was at a crossroads in counseling my students, I'd think, "What would Doris and Dottie do?" Then I would know. Thank you, precious teacher!

“ Doris, every time I hear a school counselor making a savvy, witty and creative school counseling, I will see you. You are a great friend and colleague to have. You are loved by so many of your former students and colleagues who were lucky to work with you. I am grateful to be one of them. You will live forever in the goodness of school counseling as a beautiful and so necessary profession in the school districts. I have the warmest and best memories of my collegian partnership in the counseling program at SEMO together with Dottie. I learned a lot from you and your legacy is everlasting. Please continue to bless us.

“ Dear, dear Doris. During my undergrad years, you said in Techniques of Teaching Math, “If you only remember one thing from my class, never give math problems as a punishment. You want the students to like math!” Never did! I owe my 30 years of counseling to both you and Dottie. You are the gold standard for counseling and taught us to be warm and empathic towards our students. You personified those characteristics. I thank you and my students thank you. We’ve lost a treasure here on earth, but heaven’s gained an angel!
