“ Kelly, Courtney, Drew, & Ashley, I am sorry for your loss. I am praying for strength and your continued faith. Just remember El-Z is not gone for good, you'll see him on the other side. He's there preparing a place for you. Be strong. I know it's hard. I won't say the pain will go away, but it does get better with each passing day. Love you guys. Brenda

“ Uncle Andy I love You and have a ton of memories of you and all the brothers around when I was growing up. How many Christmas memories of you spoiling me and sending gifts to a spoiled neice! Riding in that white car with the top down:) but the biggest thing that stand out is you being home for whatever reason and we would be visiting at Grandma and Grandpa's table and you reading the sport section while sort of listening to the conversation "is that right" was always your response. I sure will miss that! I LOVE YOU, your neice Veronica

“ My deepest sympathy to the family. I met Andy at Southeast Hospital when I was also a cancer patient. More recently, I rode with Andy and Kelly on the hospital's cancer survivors float in the Fair parade. I lost my husband to cancer, so I can relate to your grief. Andy was a very nice man, and I am sure he will be missed by family and friends. You are in my thoughts and prayers.
