“ Several years ago, I photographed often at Old Lorimier Cemetery. Also, I once coordinated the filming of part of a student video there. On most occasions when I visited the cemetery, Mr. Banfield was there. He took great care with the grounds, and when he took a break, we would talk and exchange stories. On the day I brought my students for videotaping, he noticed immediately that we were filming and stopped his loud mower until we were finished. Despite what must have been some quite negative experiences in his life, I always found him to be gentle and considerate towards other people. I have missed him on more recent visits to the cemetery and will remember him kindly at each visit in the future.
