“ Just A Simple Sailor
He was getting old and paunchy
And his hair was falling fast,
And he sat around the Legion,
Telling stories of the past.

Of a war that he had fought in
And the deeds that he had done.
In his exploits with his buddies;
They were heroes, everyone.

And 'tho sometimes, to his neighbors,
His tales became a joke,
All his buddies listened,
For they knew whereof he spoke.

But we'll hear his tales no longer,
For our sailor has passed away,
And the world's a little poorer,
For a Sailor died today.

He won't be mourned by many,
Just his children and his wife.
For he lived an ordinary,
Very quiet sort of life.

He held a job and raised a family,
Quietly going on his way,
And the world won't note his passing;
'tho a Sailor died today.

He was just a common Sailor
And his ranks are growing thin,
But his presence should remind us,
We may need his like again.

*For when countries are in conflict,
Then we find the Sailor's part,
Is to clean up all the troubles,
That the politicians start.*

*If we cannot do him honor,
While he's here to hear the praise,
Then at least let's give him homage,
At the ending of his days.*

*Perhaps just a simple headline,
In the paper that might say:*

"OUR COUNTRY IS IN MOURNING, FOR A SAILOR DIED TODAY"

*A. Lawrence Vaincourt (WW II Air Force veteran) wrote this poem in 1987, and its original title was
"Just A Common Soldier".*
