“ My dad was a deputy sheriff serving with Jerry when I was a child. We used to barbecue and spend time with Jerry and Debbie. I would speak to her over the years at JC Penny. She came to my moms funeral when she passed away from cancer. Such a wonderful person. My condolences to the family Jerry and Jimmy.

“ Dear Jerry & Jimmy and all family members.

I first met Debbie in 1975 (I think) It has been many years ago. We were both married to Policemen and had a little boy.

During our years together, we each had another baby boy. They were both close in age and apparently some of our husbands Police Buddies thought we had a competition going! LOL

We had a lot of fun taking care of business as young Moms. Taking the best care of "Our Boys" going to the laundromat, shopping trips to Wal-Mart and visiting (no we did not gossip) and we cooked some together. One of our shopping trips found us in Cape. She was driving and we were on the interstate headed home. Of course we were "chatting" and the next thing I knew, she said a couple "angry words" and then she started giggling. She said "Well I missed the exit, so we're going to Sikeston before we go home"! We had to laugh a little more. I will always remember Deb for her laugh, that beautiful smile and that little temper she had. I've seen her "Get fired up" at Jerry (for silly husband stuff) and he'd laugh and tease her, calling her "Red" and she'd giggle and they'd laugh and hug! (The first time I heard him call her "Red", I remember thinking "Uhoh Jerry, you're making things worse") But it was their thing!

As people often do, we drifted apart and only saw each other in passing, but we always had things to catch up on. She was so Proud of each of her Boys and when they were married, she was proud of their wives. When Avery was born I didn't think she could smile so big! She showed me pictures of Jimmy's 2 little ones a few months ago. I could feel how much she loved them too! I am so grateful that we got to speak one last time. You see, we did love each other. Thank you boys for making that happen.

Oh what a Lady your Mom was! The world will be a little "less happy" with her gone, and that is to be expected. BUT, we all know Deb would want you to remember her with love and joy and that makes it ok to laugh again.
