“ Wayne, Shane, and Sherry just wanted you to know that you and your family are in my prayers! Things I learned after my mom died, talk about your dad with each other and your children, plus allow yourself to cry. Don't be surprise when you cry at what seems like silly memories, it's okay! We called them "mom moments", but it was one of the healthiest things I did with my children and for myself! It's healing! Love you guys! If you need anything, please let me know!
