“ From Linda, one of the sisters:
Em had a date with a marketing professor from another country who had an unusual name. He decided to phone to finalize plans and looked in the phone book to get Em's number. We had a grandmother who was named Emilie and that's who the poor man ended up phoning. In accented English he asked to speak to Emily. Grandma archly said, "Who is this?" When he gave his name, Grandma said, "Well this is Howdy Doody!" The professor said, "Well, Mrs. Doody, may I please speak to Emily?"

From Cindy:

A few years ago, Carol, Julie, and I bought a Howdy Doody ornament at a local Christmas shop. We gave it to Emily at a Christmas gathering at Sarah & Jeremy's, and when we told the story, Mari was horrified to learn that Gremmy had dated anyone other than her beloved Pops.

“ Aunt Emmy could always make me laugh. She made me feel loved and welcomed at her home and I have many childhood memories spent there with her, Uncle Steve, Luke, and Sarah.

Although it is a sad time, there's comfort in knowing how much love there is for her in her big and beautiful family. My heart goes out to all those who are grieving.

I love you Aunt Emmy and I will miss you. I'm grateful to have been a part of the many threads of love in your life.
