“ I come late to the party. I have had health issues that have been resolved. I moved to St Joe in 1948 and Franz was my first friend in town. He had my back for years until I could become established at Central High school. He was a fine man and a good friend.

“ Dear Mary, I just received word yesterday of Franz's passing (from Cindy). It's so hard to know he has left this world, but absolutely no question of where he is now. My heart goes out to you, Mary, knowing how much you will miss your fantastic, funny, big-hearted husband. Joe thought so much of him and, after telling Robin and Alan the news yesterday, they too were remembering their time with him and what a super guy he was. I still remember both you and Franz showing up with tons of flowers to plant in my flower beds (and you did) after Joe died and I was back home in Cape. Only very special people do things like that. He will be sadly missed by so many and include me in that number. With love to you and all your family, Doris McDermott

“ My heartfelt condolences to Mary, Christie, Wendi, Becki, among loved ones and dear friends of Franz Meier, a major dude. Franz was a Renaissance man, able to discuss any subject, and I particularly relished our conversations on antiques and Missouri history. I regret having missed the services in Cape Girardeau, but Franz and family were in my thoughts. Take care, all, and salut, Franz.

Hi Mary, my name is Thatch Irwin and I used to work for Kellogg's in Cape Girardeau, MO. I competed with Franz every week in the cereal aisle and Franz was always a straight shooter. I liked and respected Franz. I learned the CPG industry with Kellogg's in Cape Girardeau, MO and it's where I started my CPG journey. You were married to a good man. Shalom!

My parents, John and Mary Mullinax, thought the world of Franz (and Mary.) I had the honor of interacting with Franz a couple of times in the last few years as my father was sharing memorabilia with him. He was very charming and funny! I was not surprised, after hearing a life time of funny stories of him "back in the day!" Your family is in my prayers. Missy Mullinax Archer
