

Gerald L Taylor

July 29, 1946 - April 30, 2018

Gerald L. Taylor, 71, of Cape Girardeau, Missouri died Monday, April 30, 2018 at Monticello House in Jackson, Missouri.

Originally from, Benton, Missouri, he was born July 29, 1946 in Cape Girardeau to Dickie and Virgie Taylor.

He spent time as stage manager for the Doobie Brothers in the 70's as well as many other acts in the music industry.

He attended First Baptist Church in Cape Girardeau.

Survivors include his son, Michael (Alyssa) Taylor of Maplewood, Missouri; and two grandchildren, Vivian Taylor and Asher Taylor.

There will be no services.

Online condolences may be made at www.fordandsonsfuneralhome.com.

Ford & Sons Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Tribute Wall

KP

“ Have a lot of memories of Jerry in school and at family get togethers. His dad and my grandfather were brothers so we were I guess 2nd cousins. Haven't talked to him in two or three years, but heard he was in failing health. Sorry to hear of his loss. We graduated together at Kelly High.
Kenny Pinkerton

kenneth pinkerton - May 02, 2018 at 02:12 PM

LU

I have many memories of your father growing up in the small town of Benton. He was a character back then as well. So sorry for your loss.

Larry Urhahn - May 03, 2018 at 11:24 AM

LU

“ I had the opportunity to meet Gerald a couple of times in my line of work. I had enjoyed his stories of his music career. I remember one of his nurses telling me that he had given her a Christmas card one year and she was touched by it. He will be missed.

Lucy - May 02, 2018 at 08:39 AM