“ I worked with Imelda when St Francis purchased its first computer system in 1973. She was the main operator and I was a green college student. She had managed the Business Office and had been selected to run the computer applications. She knew everything about hospital billing and the computer system as she was so intelligent. She was a wonderful mentor and one of the kindest and most patient persons in dealing with my stumbles. I remember her having the red studebaker and her mom riding with her the few blocks to work everyday. That red studebaker that was from the 1950's was still hers several years later and I doubt if under her ownership it had ever reached 25k miles. She was a remarkable person who had overcome an early age illness and I was blessed to have known her. RIP Imelda ”
