I did not know her, but I had met this girl through my son and his friends, may God Bless her family and especially her children. Another young life cut short too soon. I will pray for those she has left behind. I am sure she is flying with the angels in heaven.

“ I remember just back in Jr High... She was so quiet and literally the sweetest person unless you were friends with her then her other side came out.... It wasnt bad just meant she opened up... I remember how we would always fight one day and be cool again cause ya know jr high girls... Then life got us and as high school went on we just drifted apart.... i will miss you dearly babygirl im glad your family found justice for you. Rest easy shortness... I know we drifted but with our sisters being close we would keep touch every now and then... I love you girly prayers for your family and most importantly your babies!
