“ Kenny my dear friend of so so many years I love you my friend! I spoke with you not too long ago and you said you were coming home, we had plans to go an eat when you got home! We laughed for all of the dumb stuff you and I did over the course of our friendship since 1989! Over the years somehow I nicknamed you Buddha! My sweet Buddha I have praying for your healing as much as it hurts me that you are gone you are now healed! When you see my Mom she is going to give you crap about how you ate almost all of the Easter Basket she made you even before we left her house, lol, she put more candy in your basket! God has a special place in Heaven for you my dear friend you have always been so kind hearted and generous! I remember so many of our adventures some was really stupid, some going to the Ball games with Ronnie Woodard who now is Heaven say hi too him for me. The one story I will never forget is when your were younger and got drunk, you woke up in Capaha Park with your pajamas on, no shoes and the ducks were all over you, for you had some type of food with you! I love you Buddha you are healthy now and whole!

I am sorry I was not there for you last night for I found out today! But know this my sweet dear friend I love you and I am going to miss you! But I will see you again someday!
