“ Lee faithfully attended our 10 o'clock worship service at the Veterans Home. He frequently came in early as we practiced several songs before service. During service, he sang along most of the time and knew many of the songs. He encouraged us and we will miss him very much. Right now, he is healthy and strong again and is seeing heaven and Jesus we sang about in every service. Now he has seen what we hope for. We will meet Lee Over There one day. What a happy day. 🙏🙏 Pastor Jim and Marilyn Hampton, Sunday morning Pastors at MO Veterans Home

“ Lee quickly became a dear friend soon after we met as coworkers at SIU Carbondale. My first memorable event with Lee was when we were working together at the Communications Building at SIU. Lee was standing against the wall and grabbed his chest groaning and sunk to the floor. I immediately thought he was having a heart attack. When I came to his aid, he looked up at me and said, "get me a Coke". I said, "what"? He repeated, "get me a Coke. I'm having a gall bladder attack". Relieved, I ran and got him a Coke. After a big belch, he was up and back to work. I've never seen anything like that before. What an experience! This would have been around 1985 or 1986. We've been good buddies ever since.
