I have many memories of Lisa at Dot's house in Memphis; many of her sitting at Dot's breakfast room table just visiting or stopping by to have lunch. This photo was taken in Dot's Living Room on Christmas evening 1973, so Lisa would have just turned 21. She does not look particularly excited to have her picture taken, but maybe I just caught her at a bad moment. I always remember Lisa smiling and her infectious laugh. My sympathies to Stan, Sue, and all of her children and grandchildren.

Karen, this is Catherine...Lisa's daughter. I believe we met at Uncle Rogers once. Thank so much for this memory. The infectious laugh is spot-on...lol.
