Lynn was the life of the party, a very humorous and honest man sometimes brutally honest that others may take offence. He was very caring and would give the shirt off his back to those around him. He was often described as a great man and a big teddy bear. He truly had a heart of gold. He loved being with his family had always been a mama's boy. He loved music and made others laugh anyway he could. He also loved to fish in his younger years as well as ride his Harley. He loved living in the fast lane while it lasted. His other love was the love of his Country and fellow brotherhood.

Lynn is a veteran of the Vietnam War, serving between November 1967-September 1969, where he was known as "Fat Boy" and "Red" as he cooked for his unit during his time of service. He was always very proud of his service and took pride of his brotherhood. When visiting for Dr. Appointments and such he always enjoyed visiting his fellow comrades. If he ever came across someone displaced he would do everything he could to help. He was such a caring individual.

He served two years with distinction in Vietnam, including aiding and received other commendations for his dedication and bravery. The discipline and patriotism he learned in ARMY never left him, as friends and family will attest.
