“ Nick was of the finest character, always ready to lend a hand, or a joke. His smile could be felt in our hearts, because it came from his. I remember on one of his and Jack's first sleepovers, when they were younger, he told us about his dad's red mustang- we had an orange challenger at the time. The love of cool cars lit up his face, and brought on that smile. From our hearts to yours, may it bring some small comfort knowing he carried kindness with him and shared it generously.

“ I have several fond memories of Nick. We attended several camping trips together while he was a Scout. I really appreciated how he made my son Nelson and the younger scouts feel welcome when they first crossed over into the troop.

As a substitute teacher, Nick was in my room. I surprised him because he wasn't expecting me to be there. We ended up talking about him wanting to go into business and the future.

Nick, you will be missed.
