“ Tuesdays at 9:15 was our designated call and catch up time. I set this time slot pretty much in stone years ago because it was getting hard to catch up with him. Dad was a morning person, there were always more questions, and dialog on everything from family, farming news and the St. Louis Cardinals. But to catch him in the morning was tricky, between coffee at the Morley Cafe, card playing at Saxony Village, or breakfast at my Daddy's Cheescake or Cracker Barrel and he may have just been out for a country drive. I smile remembering that Dad, at 95, had lost a lot of friends and fishing buddies, but he was still enjoying the new friends he made.
