She was born August 7, 1937, in Manila, Arkansas, to Ellis Glen and Zerah Lee Harmon Mauldin.

Ruthie loved decorating her homes. She also made oil and acrylic decorative paintings that she sold at various craft fairs. She knitted beautiful scarves by the dozen which she gave away to family and friends. In Effingham, Illinois, she started and operated her own home decorator shop, Accents Unlimited.

Ruthie loved and was loved. In addition to family and local friends, she loved and kept friends forever, though some were scattered from California to Ohio and Michigan and surrounding states.

“ We miss you Ruthie. You have left behind so many good memories... I loved watching you and Gaylon taking walks hand in hand, sharing your beautiful flowers if the deer didn't get to them first, lol, especially our date night playing dominos, so fun :) Van and I are so grateful for all the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners you, Gaylon and Bart opened up your home to invite us in and was always welcomed with open arms. We will miss you Ruthie but so thankful you're not suffering and in the arms of Jesus enjoying heaven... maybe we will all be neighbors in heaven, how cool would that be:) We love you Ruthie, Gaylon and Bart, praying the peace of Jesus over your household. “ Ruthie was such a beautiful person. My friend. She loved her flowers and shared them with me, along with her baking, as she was a perfectionist. Gaylon was such a wonderful care giver to Ruthie; making it possible for her to stay at home during her illness. My condolences to Gaylon and Bart. Love to you my dear Ruthie. Judy.
