“ John,

My memories of Shirley go back to our earliest days in Sunday School at the General Baptist Church on through our years as classmates [53] in Cape Central. I have nothing but good memories, some of which I share with her cousins Martha, Darrell and Charlene. The last time I talked with her was at our most recent Central 50's reunion, our class luncheon at the Presbyterian Church. Her memory loss was apparent, but there was a flash of memory, and her face brightened and she called my name and said, "I remember you.". I don't know if she remembered that I used to leave her boxes of candy under the church Christmas tree, but it was good to see her remember and to be remembered by her. God bless the memories we share and God Bless and Keep you all.
